

CHRISTMAS EVE

Dear _____,

Tonight is Christmas Eve, the last night of my visit. When the house goes quiet, I'll climb aboard Santa's sleigh and fly home to the North Pole.

I have loved every morning in your house. You looked for me, giggled at my mischief and were kind to each other, and I told Santa all about it.

While I'm away, please keep being kind, keep laughing and save up all your news. I'll want to hear every bit of it next December.

Now hurry to bed. Santa only comes when everyone is fast asleep.

See you next Christmas,
