

FOR GROWN-UPS: KEEP THIS PAGE OUT OF SIGHT

Elf notes for three nights

The first three nights of December, each in four voices

1

December 1: The arrival

You need: An arrival letter (a free one is at elfnightkit.co.uk/elf-arrival-letter)

Sit the elf on the breakfast table holding the arrival letter, with this card propped beside it.

2

December 2: Toilet paper roll snowmen

You need: 2 or 3 toilet paper rolls, a marker pen

Draw snowman faces and buttons on the rolls, stack them, and sit the elf next to them holding the pen.

3

December 3: Kitchen snow angel

You need: A baking sheet, a few spoons of flour or sugar

Sprinkle the flour on the tray, lay the elf in it and sweep its arms and legs to leave a snow-angel shape.

How to use the cards

1. Each of the next three pages is one night, with its note in four voices: sweet, sassy, rhyming and funny.
2. Pick one voice and keep it for all three nights, so the elf sounds the same every morning.
3. Cut out that night's card, write your children's names and your elf's name on the lines, and leave it beside the elf after bedtime.

The other 21 nights are in the Elf Night Kit: an easy scene and a note for every night to December 24, with your children's names and your elf's name printed on every card.

elfnightkit.co.uk

Elf Night Kit · for personal, non-commercial use

DECEMBER 1 · SWEET

Hello _____! I'm _____, sent by Santa to spend December with you. Please don't touch me or my magic might fade. I fly home each night to tell Santa the good things I see.

DECEMBER 1 · SASSY

Ta-daaa! _____ has landed. Rules, _____: no touching (my magic is ticklish), and I report to Santa every night. Don't worry, I only tell him the good bits. Mostly.

DECEMBER 1 · RHYMING

Hello _____, I'm _____, it's true, Santa sent me to stay with you. Please don't touch, my magic is shy. Each night to the North Pole I will fly!

DECEMBER 1 · FUNNY

What do you call an elf who has just arrived? _____! That's me, _____. Santa sent me for December. No touching, please: it drains my magic and my jokes.

DECEMBER 2 · SWEET

No snow yet,
_____, so I built my own snowmen. Do you think they need names? Tell me today and I'll pass them on to Santa.

DECEMBER 2 · SASSY

I asked for snow. I got the bathroom cabinet. Meet my snowmen,
_____.
Please don't use their heads. You know what I mean.

DECEMBER 2 · RHYMING

No snow on the ground, not a flake could I see, so I built my own snowmen, one, two and three. Give each one a name,
_____, as fine as can be!

DECEMBER 2 · FUNNY

What do snowmen eat for breakfast,
_____?
Frosted flakes! Mine are made of toilet paper, so they mostly eat nothing. Can you give them names?

DECEMBER 3 · SWEET

I missed the North Pole snow so much that I made a snow angel right here. It's almost as good as the real thing,

_____!

DECEMBER 3 · SASSY

Good news: I found snow in your kitchen! Bad news: it might be flour. Worth it. Best snow angel of my career,

_____.

DECEMBER 3 · RHYMING

I missed the deep snow of my North Pole home, so I made a snow angel, all on my own. It's only some flour,

_____, soft

and white, but it made me feel right at home last night.

DECEMBER 3 · FUNNY

What do you get when you cross an elf with a tray of flour, _____?

A snow angel and a very dusty bottom. Worth it.